

National Council of Jewish Women "Opening Meeting with Jennifer Weiner"

The National Council of Jewish Women celebrated its 120th opening meeting featuring renowned author Jennifer Weiner.

Leslie Levine and Barb Shane were co-chairmen of the event, held at Fairmount Temple, that began with some 240 patrons enjoying lunch by Executive Caterers. Sandi Bohl and Rhona Jacobsen made the creative book centerpieces, including a special one of "All Fall Down," Ms. Weiner's latest book, which they presented to her.

More than 500 people attending the program were welcomed by NCJW President Linda Barnett before Leslie Levine introduced Ms. Weiner. Her anecdotes of getting her first book, "Good in Bed" published were funny and she related the magic of her second book, "In Her Shoes," being made into a movie. On a more serious note, Ms. Weiner said that she is outraged by "publishing sexism of women authors. I write to connect, to entertain; men who write like that don't get trashed the way women authors do." Her new book, "All Fall Down" is about addiction, "the addict who is not the stereotype. It's not a 'message' book but one I hope raises awareness." STORY AND PHOTOGRAPHS BY KATHRYN RIDDLE

Linda Barnett and Jennifer Weiner

Barb Shane and Leslie Levine

Sandi Bohl, Jennifer Weiner and Rhona Jacobsen

Fran Steinbock and Myrna Bloch

Mindi Axner and Ilene Nolish

Sondra Boyd and Lola Kamins

National Council of Jewish Women "Opening Meeting with Jennifer Weiner"

The National Council of Jewish Women celebrated its 120th opening meeting featuring renowned author Jennifer Weiner.

Leslie Levine and Barb Shane were co-chairmen of the event, held at Fairmount Temple, that began with some 240 patrons enjoying lunch by Executive Caterers. Sandi Bohl and Rhona Jacobsen made the creative book centerpieces, including a special one of "All Fall Down," Ms. Weiner's latest book, which they presented to her.

More than 500 people attending the program were welcomed by NCJW President Linda Barnett before Leslie Levine introduced Ms. Weiner. Her anecdotes of getting her first book, "Good in Bed" published were funny and she related the magic of her second book, "In Her Shoes," being made into a movie. On a more serious note, Ms. Weiner said that she is outraged by "publishing sexism of women authors. I write to connect, to entertain; men who write like that don't get trashed the way women authors do." Her new book, "All Fall Down" is about addiction, "the addict who is not the stereotype. It's not a 'message' book but one I hope raises awareness." STORY AND PHOTOGRAPHS BY KATHRYN RIDDLE

Linda Barnett and Jennifer Weiner

Barb Shane and Leslie Levine

Sandi Bohl, Jennifer Weiner and Rhona Jacobsen

Fran Steinbock and Myrna Bloch

Mindi Axner and Ilene Nolish

Sondra Boyd and Lola Kamins